

LDA/Columbia Conference: Save the Date

The Lyme Disease Association announces its 13th annual scientific conference, Lyme & Other Tick-Borne Diseases: Microbial Persistence and Tick-Borne Diseases – New Scientific and Clinical Directions, to be held at the Hyatt at the Bellevue in Philadelphia, PA, on Saturday (8am-5pm) and Sunday (8am-2pm), September 29 & 30, 2012.

Columbia University College of Physicians and Surgeons will again jointly sponsor the conference which will feature prominent speakers in tick-borne diseases and also clinical practitioners. The conference is designed for physicians and scientists, but the public is invited to register to attend. Continue to check this website for future registration, information about the conference, and exhibitor opportunities.