

TOOLS For Parents:

Creating an Advocacy Notebook

Presented by: Patricia Exman of Exman Advocacy
And The Ridgefield Lyme Disease Task Force

Saturday November 5th, 2011

10AM ~ 12PM

Town Hall Annex
66 Prospect Street
Ridgefield, CT 06877

This hands on workshop will provide parents with the skills, knowledge and resources to maintain documentation and records that will be instrumental in becoming effective educational advocates for their children while suffering with Tick-Borne diseases. Every parent will walk away with a notebook organized with their child's information that they can use as an effective advocacy tool for the coming year. While initiated for Lyme patients, anyone struggling with health records and or educational issues will benefit from this meeting. Bring your piles of paper related to your child's education and/or your medical records and let Pat guide you through organizing this into one of the most powerful tools in the advocacy toolbox.

Registration is Required ~ This program is free of charge
To Register email RLDTF@comcast.net or call 203-417-6584